

A decorative hanging arrangement, possibly a wreath or a large ornament, featuring two large, cream-colored dahlias as the central focal points. The arrangement is densely packed with various types of leaves, including solid green ones and others with white or yellow variegated edges. Interspersed among the foliage are several purple, textured pomegranates and clusters of small, dark red berries. The entire composition is suspended by a dark, thick cord that forms a loop at the top. The background is a plain, light-colored wall.
